Goizueta Business Library

Creating Bridges to Knowledge

U.S. Job Search Strategies: H1-B Visas

Where should I begin my career research?

GBL Career Services Portal – Resources for industry research, salary negotiations, identifying network, covers letter and resume preparation, H1B corporate sponsors, and more.

How do I identify companies that have sponsored H1B visas?

GBL H1B Hub Find a searchable collection of different lists of U.S. companies that sponsored H1Bs in the last year.

GoinGlobal - Search for companies that have applied to sponsor H1B visas in the last 10 years. All data is from the U.S. Department of Labor.

Where can I locate companies with multinational locations?

Uniworld: American and Foreign Companies with Global Operations – Create customized lists of domestic companies that have operations in over 200 countries; filter by country, region, state, company name, industry or revenue. Download results into Excel.

How do I create custom lists of U.S. companies?

AtoZ Databases – Includes 30 million U.S. businesses; filter by geography, industry, size, and more. Results can be downloaded into Excel. Use GoinGlobal to cross-reference your companies to see who has sponsored H1B visas.

How can I refresh my Excel skills, learn to use R, data visualization tools, etc.?

O'Reilly – Courses and certificates focused on developing or refreshing business skills and software applications. Read these tips to take full advantage of O'Reilly.

How can the business librarians support me?

Email GBSAskalibrarian@emory.edu for questions about using databases or locating other research, troubleshooting database access problems, and scheduling a consultation.

Visit Goizueta Business Library's GBS Toolkit

ASK a Librarian