

June 2019

Library takes exhibit to King Middle School in Atlanta

Emory Libraries partnered with Martin Luther King Jr. Middle School in Atlanta to bring the reimaged Billops-Hatch exhibition into its hallways and classrooms, inspiring the students with stories of African American artists and activists and materials from the Rose Library archive.

READ MORE

Emory students win Undergraduate Research Awards

Eleven Emory students received Undergraduate Research Awards from the Robert W. Woodruff Library and the Rose Library for research they conducted in the Emory Libraries or at another library. The four donor-funded awards include the Currey Seminar Award, which helps defray costs that involve travel for research.

LEARN MORE

Oxford Library student employee wins Sara Gregory scholarship

Madeliene Skinner, a first-year Oxford College student, is the 2019 recipient of the Sara McDowell Gregory Memorial Scholarship.

The award, which is named for a former chemistry and math professor at Oxford who later became the college's head librarian, is given yearly to a deserving Oxford student who excels as a library assistant.

READ MORE

Alumni and the library

Emory alumni still enjoy many of the same great library services they did as students, whether they are still in Atlanta or have moved to a new city.

READ MORE

Exhibition of African American collections closing in late July

"Building Emory's African American Collections: Highlights from the Curatorial Career of Randall K. Burkett," an exhibition of treasures from the Rose Library's remarkable archive, will close July 28.

Burkett built an amazing collection, with many unique rare books, manuscripts, artifacts, and ephemera among the items. While you're here, visit the adjacent "Framing Shadows," an exhibit of portraits of African American nannies with their white charges.

LEARN MORE

SUBSCRIBE TO KEYWORDS

KEYWORDS ARCHIVE

LIBRARY NEWS & CALENDAR

MAKE A GIFT

libraries.emory.edu